

Command Troops

Armoured Units

East African Armoured Car Regiment (1)

Kenya Armoured Car Regiment (2)

Artillery

1st (East Africa) Field Regiment, East African Artillery (3)

(H.Q., Independent East Africa, 57th (East Africa) & 62nd (East Africa) Field Batteries, East African Artillery)

2nd (East Africa) Field Regiment, East African Artillery (4)

(H.Q., 55th (East Africa), 59th (East Africa) & 60th (East Africa) Field Batteries, East African Artillery)

101st (East Africa) Anti-Tank Battery, East African Artillery

Fire Command, Mombasa

1st Coast Battery, East African Artillery

9th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

Fire Command Zanzibar

6th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

7th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

8th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

Independent Coastal Batteries

2nd Coast Battery, East African Artillery

3rd Coast Battery, East African Artillery

4th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

5th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

10th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

11th Coast Battery, East African Artillery

Engineers

64th (East Africa) Field Company, East African Engineers

65th (East Africa) Field Company, East African Engineers

66th (East Africa) Field Company, East African Engineers

55th Survey Company, East African Engineers

57th Survey Company, East African Engineers

East Africa Survey Group, East African Engineers

Road Construction Group, East African Engineers

Road Maintenance Group, East African Engineers

Signals

East Africa Command Signals, East African Corps of Signals

NOTES

1. This regiment was an operational unit, although it was not deployed as such.
2. This was a reinforcement regiment.
3. This regiment was forming at the Depot, East African Artillery. It was later redesignated as the 301st (East Africa) Field Regiment, and was lost with the sinking of H.M.T. Khedive Ismail en-route to Ceylon join the 11th (East Africa) Infantry Division.
4. This regiment was also forming at the Depot of the East African Artillery. It was later redesignated as the 302nd (East Africa) Field Regiment, and served with the 11th (East Africa) Infantry Division in Burma during 1944.