NOTES:

- 1. This brigade was formed in February 1943 as the second anti-aircraft brigade on the island of Ceylon. The brigade formed the anti-aircraft defences for the naval port and garrison at Trincomalee, on the east coast of Ceylon, where it replaced the 1st Royal Marine Anti-Aircraft Brigade. Brigadier (Temporary) Brigadier Arthur John Rupert Marshall LESLIE, C.B.E., g., commanded the brigade from its formation until 4 March 1943, when he was appointed the Brigadier Anti-Aircraft Artillery for Ceylon Command. Brigadier (temporary) John Dallas EDGE, M.C., came from Eastern Command on the same date to assume command of the Brigade. Brigadier EDGE left on 18 July 1943, and he reverted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in August 1943. Brigadier (Acting) Gilbert Daly HOLMES, M.B.E., G., came out from England to assume command of the Brigade with effect from 18 July 1943. Between 26 November and 22 December 1943, Brigadier HOLMES was promoted to the rank of Acting Major General while undertaking the appointment of Garrison Commander at Trincomalee. On 23 December 1943, he resumed command of the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade. Brigadier HOLMES transferred to the command of the 9th Anti-Aircraft Brigade in India on 21 February 1944. On 23 June 1944, Brigadier (Temporary) Victor Raymond Wallen CRAWFORD, M.C., p.s.c., assumed command of the Brigade. In early 1945, the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade transferred to India, and in March 1945, with different units under command, it was deployed to Meiktila in Burma, still under the command of Brigadier CRAWFORD (see next page)
- 2. This regiment was raised on 1 June 1942 by the conversion of the 14th Bn. 8th Punjab Regiment. On formation, it comprised the 24th, 25th and 26th H.A.A. Batteries, and it was deployed to Ceylon, initially under the 23rd Anti-Aircraft Brigade at Colombo. When the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade was formed at Trincomalee, this regiment moved across the island to join this Brigade. By this date, the 10th H.A.A. Battery had transferred from the 4th Indian H.A.A. Regiment to replace the 25th (Punjab) H.A.A. Battery. The regiment was still serving at Trincomalee in October 1944, and it was disbanded on 4 June 1945.
- 3. The Ceylon Garrison Artillery (C.G.A.) was formed in 1918 by the amalgamation of the Ceylon Artillery Volunteers and the Town Guard Artillery. The post-First World War function of the C.G.A was to man coastal artillery batteries at Colombo and Trincomalee. With the outbreak of the Second World War in the Far East in December 1941, the C.G.A. was mobilised and expanded. The 1st Coast Regiment comprised one field and four coast batteries around Colombo. The 2nd H.A.A. Regiment was formed at Trincomalee, and it was equipped with the 3.7" anti-aircraft guns. A 3rd Searchlight/Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment was also formed, based in and around Colombo, equipped with searchlights and 40 mm Bofors guns.
- 4. This regiment was formed in November 1939 with a battery from the 16th Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment. It was based in the U.K. until it left for the Far East in December 1941. The regiment arrived at Colombo on 4 March 1942, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel W. BALDWIN-FLETCHER, and it joined the 23rd Anti-Aircraft Brigade. In September 1943, it transferred to the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade at Trinacomalee. The 264th L.A.A. Battery was detached to join the 13th Anti-Aircraft Brigade at Chittagong. The regiment disbanded in Ceylon in January 1945.

- 5th Indian Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, Indian Artillery (2) (H.Q., 12th, 13th & 14th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Batteries, Indian Artillery)
- 2nd Indian Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment, Royal Artillery (3) (H.Q., 7th, 8th & 9th Light Anti-Aircraft Batteries, Indian Artillery)

NOTES:

- 1. This brigade had been formed in Ceylon, but it moved to India in early 1945. Brigadier (Temporary) Victor Raymond Wallen CRAWFORD, M.C., p.s.c., was in command of the Brigade during its period of deployment in Burma. The Brigade was flown into Meiktila to defend the airfield against Japanese air attacks, and then it followed XXXIII Indian Corps as it advanced from Central Burma to Rangoon. On its arrival in Rangoon, this Brigade became responsible for the air defence of Rangoon. This responsibility was transferred to the 3rd Indian Anti-Aircraft Brigade in June 1945, and this Brigade was redesignated as the 61st Army Group, Royal Artillery, under command of the 12th Army in Burma, but by September 1945, all anti-aircraft tasks in Burma were terminated, which led to the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade (61st A.G.R.A.) being disbanded.
- 2. This regiment was raised on 1 March 1942, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel R. C. ELLIOTT, and it comprised the 12th, 13th, and 14th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Batteries. It was deployed to Assam where it came under the command of the 9th Indian Anti-Aircraft Brigade, and in October 1944, it transferred to the 3rd Indian Anti-Aircraft Brigade, which had now deployed to Assam. On an unknown date, Lieutenant Colonel O. C. D. BERRY assumed command of the regiment. By March 1945, this regiment was under command of the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade, and it was deployed to Meiktila with the Brigade. It moved to Rangoon, and it was still based there when the Brigade (now the 61st A.G.R.A.) was disbanded.
- 3. Raised on 1 October 1941, this regiment was under the command of Lieutenant Colonel E. C. KENSINGTON, and it comprised the 7th, 8th, and 9th L.A.A. Batteries. It was deployed to Bengal, where it joined the 14th (West African) Anti-Aircraft Brigade, but by February 1943, it was stationed in Assam. Towards the end of 1944, it was re-equipped with self-propelled 40 mm Bofors guns, and it joined the 24th Anti-Aircraft Brigade. The regiment was deployed to Meiktila, and it moved down to Rangoon with the Brigade. In June 1945, it came under command of the 61st A.G.R.A. when the 24th A.A. Brigade was redesignated. On an unknown date, Lieutenant Colonel R. G. B. REED has assumed command of the regiment.
